TIDE COMING IN AT BLUE RIDGE

A Round of Diversions for a Sprightly Gathering.

WHITE GIRLS AS WAITERS

Mr. Brown Makes a Hit With Dainty Attendants at Table.

BLUE RIDGE SPRINGS, July 22 .-The closing days of July are the forerunners of the high tide of August gayety, and already the rooms are being taken runners of the high tide of August gayety, and alrendy the rooms are being taken by those who realize the necessity for securing "first choice" while they may. The extremely warm weather which prevails in almost all parts of this country has brought visitors to the mountains in large numbers. For two days past we felt here a reflex of the high temperatures registered in the cities, but it has not reached the point of dissomfort, and this morning finds cool breezes and a return to the normal conditions of mountain climate, where "Night and Naturo's hely calm Call us to join her in her voiceless psalm." Where "morn in purple splendor fills. The beary forehead of the sleeping hills." The calendar for the past week has noted a round of diversions for the Blue Ridge colony, among which was a visit to our neighboring city of Roanoke by a lucky party of thirteen young people, who attended the performance of a massical councily at the Casino, which is beautifully located in a park in the suburbs of that thriving railroad town. The young ladies who participated were the Misses Marsalis and Bach, of New York; Cockrell, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Sproule, of New Orleans; Todd, of Smithfield, Va.; and Mr. and Mrs. John W. Platt, Jr., of Louisiana, and Messrs, Randolph, Anderson, Cockrell and Tuggles. The party was chaperened by Mrs. Lambert, of Richmond, Va.

euchre, arransed by Mrs. Pannill Rucker, in which Mrs. Bach was the champion and now wears the honors.

Dr. W. F. Drewry, of Petersburg, made a visit here during the gust week, he having come in the interest of the new enterprise to establish at Ironville, Va., a sanitarium and camp for consumptives, where such unfortunates may have the healing properties of pure air and outdoor life. This cure is now accepted by the scientific men of this country, and offers the only known remedy for this otherwise fatal disease. A site fof this institution has been donated, and the project awaits the assistance of the humanitarian and philanthropist, who are ever ready to extend substantial sympathy to the suffering ones about us.

Recent arrivals brought Mr. Valil J. Randolph and his sister, Miss Mary Page Randolph of Tallahassee, Fla., both of whom are no strangers, having spent previous seasons here. They are of the sell knewn Virginia family of that name, and Mr. Randolph will have charge of the pocial enter, dament here, thereby adding a delightful feature to Blue Ridge summer life.

Dr. Rice, as resident physician, has ome to this post with high recommendacome to this post with high recommenda-tions, among which is the endorsement of Dr. George Ben Johnston, of Richmond, whose rank in his profession is undis-puted and reputation is national. Mr. L. V. Anderson, as clerk, is ever courteous, making the staff of our host all that could be desired. Mr. Brown is a veteran in the conduct of hotel management and is a pioneer of mountain resorts in the employment of young women for service in the dining room.

These girls are daughters of this moun-lain region—dainty and attractive in ap-pearance, and find in this service, under such admirable direction, an educational and refining influence and a revelation in self helpfulness that is a mutual advan-

and refining influence and a revesation in self helpfulness that is a mutual advantage. In this second season of such service the progress is notable, and our host finds it more reliable in every way. Miss Fannle Scanlaw, modest, refined and efficient, is in command in the dining room of this corps of girs.

THE SEASON SWELS

The Week Full of Gayety and Many Pleasures.

ENTERTAINMENTS

The Ranks of Congenial Circles Enlivened By Familiar

Faces.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) GREENBRIER WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, July 22.—The week hots been very gay. Outside of the impromptu festivities, which fill all the odd moments, many formal entertainments have been given. On Saturday Mrs. Alexander Preston entertained at a very dainty dejeuner a la fourchette, served in the cafe. Mrs. Preston's guests were Mrs. Cunningham, Mrs. Thayer, Mrs. Buckner, Mrs. Goff, Miss Hattle Billott.

The same evening Dr. and Mrs. Buckner and Mrs. Goff gave a very large lawn party, serving Welsh rarebit and every variety of delicious drink.

Mr. C. Adrian Grant gave a very elaborate dinner in honor of Mrs. George A. Cunningham. Mrs. Cunningham is admittedly the most beautiful and popular of the many charming young matrons here this season, and wins all hearts by her gracious cordiality.

Quite a flutter of engerness and pleasure was caused by the arrivat this week of Mrs. Chisoin, Mrs. Froster Thomas and mother, and Mrs. John D. Potts. Every one who comes to the Winte Sulphur knows how largely the presence of these interesting women enhances the pleasure of being here.

Wednesday, the 18th, was Judge Pryor's seventy-seventh birthday. A banquet was contemplated in honor of the day, but Judge Pryor declined, as he is in deep mourning for the death of his distinguished son, Dr. Pryor, Mrs. Pryor has not been at all well, and every day her absence is deplored, and wishes for her rapid restoration are expressed.

Mrs. Buckner gave a ten on Tuesday afternoon at her cottage.

Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. John Middleton entertained quite a party at cards. Delicious refreshments were served.

Mr. Roller will hold services in St. very gay. Outside of the impromptu festivities, which fill all the odd moments,

Mr. Roller will hold services in St.
Thomas Church next Sunday. Mrs. Preston Nash is organizing a choir, and good music may be looked for. Mrs. William music may be looked for. Mrs. Williamson Talley, who is a finished musician, will play the organ.

The many friends of Mr. St. George Bryan wil be glad to know he is improving. Last Sunday, while driving in a buggy with Mrs. Bryan and Mrs. Cunningham, the horse shied, violently throwing out Mr. Bryan and spraining his knee.

ing out Mr. Bryan and spranning his knee.

Some of the arrivals for the last few days_are Dr. W. J. Young and wife, Mrs. Preston Nash; Mrs. E. T. Rohinson, Charles J. Stringfellow, Miss M. C. Branch, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Branch, M. S. Wellford, Mrs. Tennant and son, F. T. Glasgow, Mrs. M. McCarmack, Richmond; Mrs. Chisolim, Mr. Murlon Whaley, New York; Mr. and Mrs. John Z. Middleton, New York; John F. Lee, St. Louis, W. T. THE NATURAL BRIDGE.

The Countryside Joins the Guests in a Grand Dance.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NATURAL BEIDGE, July 22.—The social wheel at the Natural Bridge has made quite a rapid revolution during the past week, and the hotel is fast filling up, and the social pleasures of the place have greatly increased, for card parties can now be seen on the wide verinday and horseback riding is one of the most enjoyable morning pleasures; or, with book in hand, they wander through the deep, shady glen, only to scan a few lines, as they rest on the rustle seats, which are placed at short intervals through the park, Friday night brought to mind "ye good old Virginia times," when the neighbors gathered, for miles, in the dancing hall to enjoy the dance. When Mr. Hamilton, the genial clerk, leads the Virginia reel, they all know that they are going to have a good time.

Sunday evening found the dining hall lighted, and a song service was held by the guests of the hotel, in which all took part. Mrs. George Temple, in a clear, sweet soprano, sang Stella Confidante, by Roubida, accompanied by Professor part. Mrs. George Temple, are the household of the household of the violin, his soft notes as he touched the bow were simply beautiful. One Sweetly Solenn Thought (Ambrose) was also sung by Mrs. Temple, The Rosary, by Norvine, by Mrs. Temple, and Miss Brockenborough, the latter an effective contraito. All joined in the still Sabbath evening.

The following charming and interesting parties are registered for the season: Mr. and Mrs. Cohn, Miss Cohn, Miss Anna Cohn and Miss Dopothy, Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. William G. Smith, daughter and siter, Miss Wilson, of Cape Charles City, Va.; Mrs. George Temple and family, of Danville, Va.; Miss Annie Champlain, Miss Gertrude Champlain and brother, Jacksonville, Fin. These pretty young ladies and charming dames add greatly to the attractions of the Bridge.
